

Drama:

I do like to be beside the seaside... (episode two)

Presenter - Today on "I do like to be beside the seaside" we are back on the beach of beautiful lake Galilee. Today we will be looking at some more relaxing ways to spend your time so you can enjoy a peaceful and restful holiday.

Guide - Today we are going to see the different ways people find to relax on the beach.

Well you can't get more relaxed than that (pointing at someone sleeping).

Sun bathing is always popular in this beautiful sunny climate.

Normally I would expect to see people reading books or newspapers or comics, but there doesn't seem to be much of that going on. In fact, there doesn't seem to be much of anything going on - where IS everyone?

I've just heard though my ear piece that the mystery has been solved - everyone is at the other end of the beach where there seems to be some kind of story telling festival. Let's go and see.

Well I can't really see what is going on - the crowd is huge. I think the story teller has had to move to a boat so that everyone can see and hear. Let's ask this listener for more details.

We are thrilled to find a traditional story teller at work - what can you tell our viewers about him?

Listener - That's not a traditional story teller - that's Jesus. He's amazing. There's nothing that will drag me away from my holiday reading, but his stories are way better than Mythical Maze. They actually mean something - they are all about how we can know God. I've never heard anything like it - he's brilliant.

Guide - Jesus again! People following him - thousands listening to him. I wonder if we will hear any more about him this week?
