Act It Out Script

I'm one of Jesus' best friends.

We've had lots of meals together, but tonight we are going to have a very special meal – it is called a Passover meal.

This is a meal when we remember how God saved our families hundreds of years ago.

I asked Jesus where he wanted to have the special meal.

He said, 'When you see a man carrying a water jar, follow him to the room where we'll eat.'

Jesus had got it all planned out.

Can you help me get the room ready?

(Pretend to put out plates and cups.)

After the meal, Jesus said something that was strange.

'This is the last meal I shall eat with you before I die,' he said.

Well, we were all amazed! Was he really going to die so soon?

Then he broke up some bread and gave us each a bit.

'I want you to remember me always,' he said.

'When you eat bread, remember me.'

(Pretend to give out some bread.)

Then he took the cup of wine and gave us each a drink.

'When you drink this wine, remember me,' he said.

'Remember my death as well as my life.'

(Pretend to pass round a drink.)

Upstairs in the darkened room

Upstairs in the darkened room,
See the meal is spread.
Everyone will take their place,
Jesus at the head.

Upstairs in the darkened room,
Here we share the bread.
Jesus breaks it, passes round,
Everyone is fed.

Upstairs in the darkened room,
See the rich wine red.
Pass the cup from hand to hand,
Share as with the bread.

Upstairs in the darkened room,
'Like the wine and bread,
I will give myself for you,'
Jesus gently said.

This is the bread,
And this is the wine,
At the last meal.

This is Jesus,
Who ate the bread
And drank the wine,
At his last meal.

These are the friends,
Who sat with Jesus,
To eat the bread
And drink the wine,
At his last meal.

This is the room,
Where Jesus sat,
With all his friends,
To eat the bread
And drink the wine,
At his last meal.

This the man,
Who showed the way,
To the room upstairs,
Where Jesus sat,
With all his friends,
To eat the bread
And drink the wine,
At his last meal.

Jesus and his friends were in an upstairs room celebrating the Passover together.

'I've really looked forward to sharing this supper with you before I enter my time of suffering,' said Jesus.

He took some bread, gave thanks and broke it. Then he shared the bread with the whole group.

'This bread is like my body, given for you. Eat it in my memory.'

The disciples looked at each other, confused. They weren't quite sure what Jesus meant.

Then Jesus took the cup, 'This cup of wine will remind you of the blood that's going to be poured out for you. One of you who is sitting at this table now is betraying me. God has already decided that I must die, but it is a terrible thing to be the person who betrays me.'
